1 MS. DELORES SCHMIDT: And I don't really have anything prepared and I wasn't intending to say anything, but my name is Dolores Schmidt and I came here from Ireland in '94 with my children to live in Alamo and I just recently moved to Las Vegas, and I just know that it's wrong, the suggestion to put the nuclear waste in Yucca Mountain basically because the State of Nevada and the people of Nevada are against it.

I came from Ireland to get away from danger, and I came because this is a free land and it seems to me from listening to people talking that this is the issue that's at stake is freedom more so even than nuclear waste because the governor of the State and the representatives are against it and the people are against it, and yet it seems that a federal body can overrule and proceed along with that.

It's -- there's no mistaking that there's a problem from listening to people speaking, and there's an awful lot of talk about the problem. I don't understand. I've lost track of all the initials and the subdivisions and all the different terminology and I'm no expert, but I know it's wrong.

And I firmly believe that right always pre -- prevails over wrong in the end, but there's no doubt that there is a problem and it's kind of time to talk about the solution rather than going on with the problem.

More time is needed and more information, and there seems to be a hesitancy to give more time. I hear about a deadline this month for public comment. I don't believe you can close something that people still need to know more about.

And -- I just scribbled down a few things while I was listening. And I can't even read it now.

Yeah. I don't really have that much to say, just that I know it is wrong and that I know Abraham Lincoln said the price of freedom is eternal vigilance, and I just to people that I heard talking at the last meeting and here I am so grateful on behalf of myself and my children for the vigilantes that you are, and I know as sure as I stand here that that will not happen, that it will not be at Yucca Mountain because right will prevail. And what you're doing is wrong.
